The Ostrow School of Dentistry of USC seeks applicants for a part-time, non-tenure-track position at the rank of assistant clinical professor of dentistry in the Division of Dental Public Health and Pediatric Dentistry.

Responsibilities will include serving as a field team leader of a large-scale public health grant; engaging in direct provision of oral health education and appropriate preventive services to children ages 0 to 5; and educating parents, caregivers and health providers about oral health. Some teaching at the pre-doctoral level at the School's affiliated sites will be required.

Candidates must have a Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene (BSDH) or equivalent and be licensed to practice as an RDH in the State of California. Individuals with additional education in public health and experience in large scale community-based research programs are strongly encouraged to apply.

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, complete curriculum vitae, and arrange to have at least three letters of reference to:
